‘One always sensed that there were never less than three balls in the air though usually only one of them was visible'.

College Record
"both in quantity and in quality – the two do not always go together – his output in the written word, and in broadcasts and lectures, was awesome.

It is doubtful whether Briggs ever spent a truly idle moment in his life".

Asa Briggs
Born 1921 to William and Jane Briggs

“We were not straight working class, but very near to it”
STUDENT
Sidney Sussex College, Cambridge University
The youngest undergraduate since Oliver Cromwell
The youngest undergraduate since Oliver Cromwell

“You’re only a baby Briggs - but since we are sure there is going to be a war, we would like you to complete your degree before you are called up for military service".

“I actually did some marking of scripts for the University Correspondence College when I was a very young new Cambridge graduate in 1941”

“I took the two degrees in parallel, the London one called ‘external’. I did not dare tell my Cambridge supervisor in Sidney Sussex College what I was doing or I would have been forbidden to do it”

“He turned to the UCC for courses and in talking to him about his studies I had the benefit of sharing them without paying for them”

“When I told this three years later to an able and enterprising man working for the UCC, who asked me to mark scripts and pass on guidance to the UCC students, he considered sensibly that this was a great advantage.”

“Broadcasting is in the forefront of social and cultural changes which it both registers and influences…

To write the history of broadcasting is, in a sense, to write the history of everything else”
University of Sussex 1960
VICE-CHANCELLOR & CHANCELLOR
Dany le Rouge
Paris, May 1968
"If you continue to interrupt me, I will stop lecturing forthwith. If you desist, I shall take questions at the end of the lecture on France and Prussia, and any other matter, particularly including the running and governance of the University of Sussex".

“I am unhappy if I ever write less than 1,000 words a day”
"Briggs reminds one of those tramps who can often be seen rummaging in municipal dustbins, carefully smoothing, folding and packing away things that they find. His books are always overweight, stuffed with minutiae, which any self-respecting graduate student would throw away. And that is their glory!"

1980s – Decline in student mobility

- So why not move the courses to the students instead of the other way around?

- The Briggs Group: ‘to report on the potential for Commonwealth co-operation in distance education.’
"Asa demonstrated his well-honed skills in drawing out ideas from a diverse international group, his mastery as a writer, and his willingness to take on too much"

Give a man a fish
to feed him for a day...
Teach a man to fish
to feed him for a lifetime.
Give a man a fish and you feed him for a day.

Teach a man to fish and you feed him for a lifetime.

Create a good tutorial and he can teach himself how to fish.

Chair, Board of Governors, 1989-1993
After his 90th birthday he completed three books and … two weeks before his death his greatest regret was that he would not be able to finish the book that he was then writing!
“Being part of the creation of The Open University was the most interesting thing I ever did”
